F. D. Draws Wage Control Message

Plans for Terror Reign Confessed By Nazi Spies

The quick-thinking Coast Guardsman who discovered three of the eight captured Nazi saboteurs as they landed on Long Island, pretended to fall in with their ideas by accepting a bribe and then sounded the alarm that led to their capture is congratulated, above, in Washington by Vice Admiral Russell R. Waesche, right, commander of the Coast Guard. The guardsman, 21-year-old John C. Cullen of Bayside, L. I., was promoted from seaman, second class, to coxswain.

PRESIDENT MAY TALK ON RADIO OF INFLATION

All Pay Scales May Be Held At Present Levels For Duration Of Strife

RECESS PLAN ABANDONED

157,000 Little Steel Workers To Receive Increase Of 44 Cents Each Day

WASHINGTON, July 17—Speedy enactment of a wage control bill to combat inflation was held likely today as congressional leaders abandoned plans for a summer recess and President Roosevelt reportedly prepared a message to the House and Senate calling for wage stabilization and general price ceilings.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to ask that all wage scales throughout the nation, save those in sub-standard levels, be frozen by law for the duration of the war.

The WLB's wage stabilization policy, announced in its order granting a 44-cent a day wage increase of 157,000 "little steel" workers, is designed to maintain workers' purchasing power at January, 1941 levels.

Under this "yardstick," workers whose pay failed to keep pace with the 15 percent rise in the cost of living between January 1, 1941 and May 1, 1942, would be entitled to a compensating increase. Persons who have received an increase of 15 percent or more during that period would not be entitled to raises, except in cases where their rates still are sub-standard and an increase is necessary to eliminate inequalities.

Radio Talk Likely
Legislative leaders who have conferred with Mr. Roosevelt during the last few days are of the opinion that he will also make a radio address to the nation outlining the factors making for an explosive rise in prices and calling on the people to cooperate in holding the price and wage structure in tow.

Reports were current on Capitol Hill that Mr. Roosevelt's message on price control and other measures to halt inflation will be sent (Continued on Page Three)

WILDCAT STRIKE HITS TRAVEL IN DETROIT REGION

DETROIT, July 17—Thousands of work-bound Detroiters were stranded on street corners throughout the city today in a series of wildcat strikes among AFL employees of the Detroit street railway.

Police declared that groups of men were stopping buses at various intersections and ordering passengers to leave the coaches. Police declared that as fast as they disbanded one group, the men would jump into automobiles and chase other motor coaches.

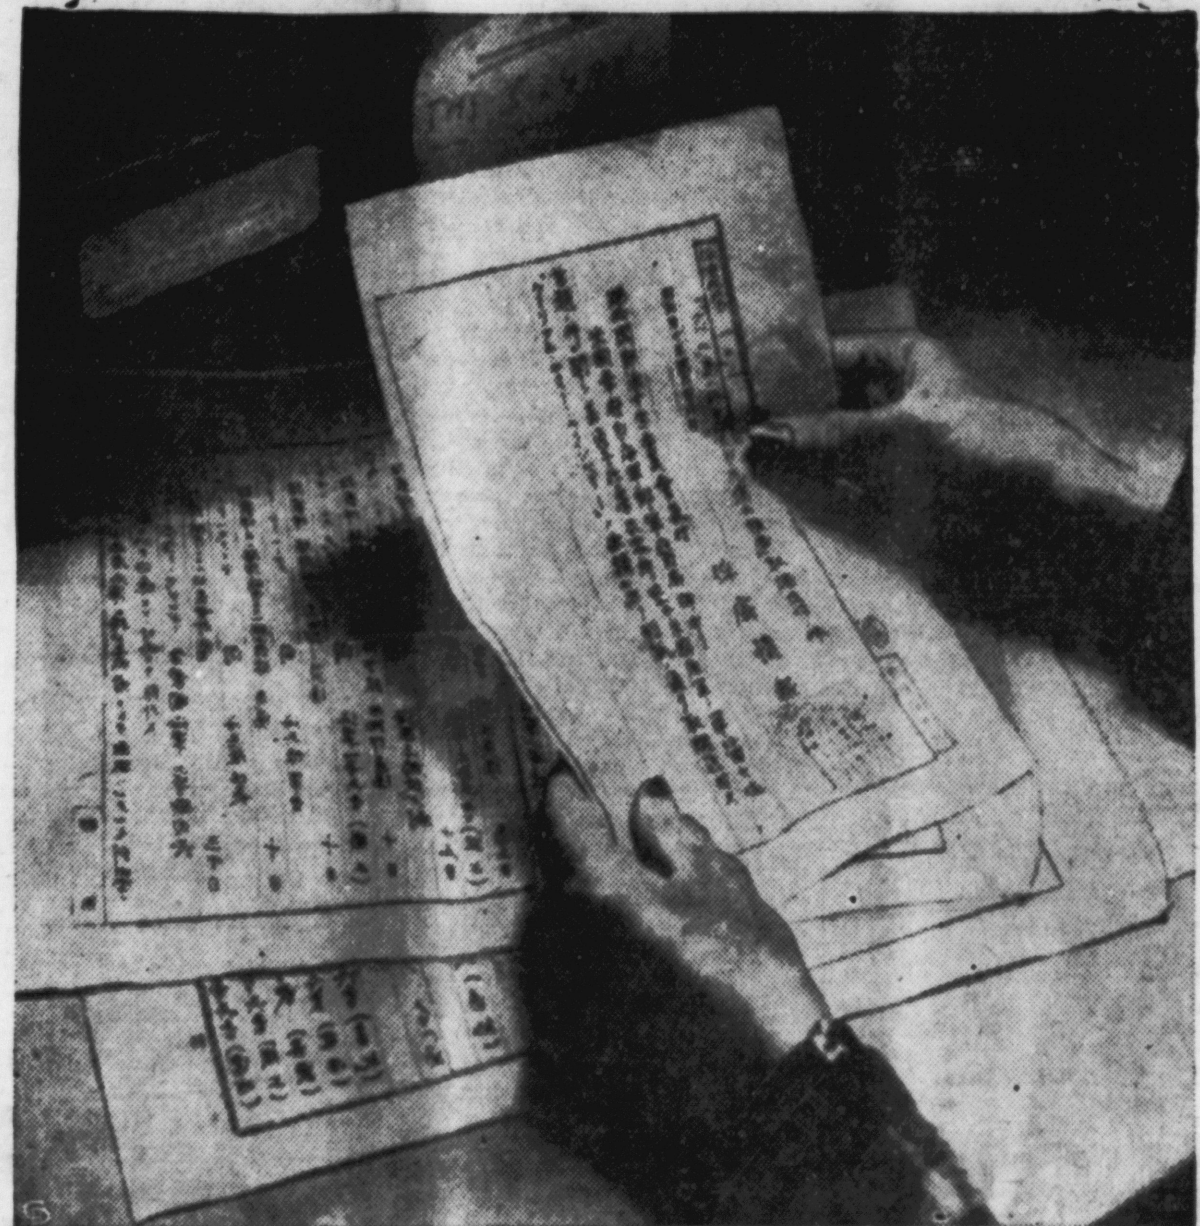

A general strike among employees of the DSR had been threatened for last midnight unless wage arbitrations with the railway were completed at the time but DSR officials were under the impression an agreement concerning the strike had been reached.

Police said several pickets were arrested and Fred Nolan, general manager of the DSR, said that bus service had been reduced about 25 percent.

WPB CONTROLS COSMETIC SALE

Nail Polish, Bubble Bath, Numerous Other Items On Curtailed List

WASHINGTON, July 17—The home front felt further effects of the war today, after the War Production Board curtailed production of the vast cosmetic and toiletry industry.

Hardest hit were such items as nail polish, aftershave lotion, bubble bath, cleansing lotion, hair lacquer, skin fresheners and bleaching creams, production of which is limited to 80 percent of the 1941 output.

Restricted to last year's levels is the production of face powder, lipstick, cosmetic stockings, bath salts, mascara, perfume, toilet water, hair dye, theatrical makeup and a number of other products.

A third group of items such as shaving cream, tooth cleansers, talcum, certain types of baby powder and soap may be produced without restriction.

The WPB order prohibits the manufacture or sale of new toiletry or cosmetic products that had not been manufactured commercially and offered for sale during the year immediately preceding the issuance of the directive.

The WPB estimated that the restrictions would save some 17,000,000 pounds of chemicals and other critical war materials a year.

TWO FAVORITES OF HITLER NOW IN POLICE EYE

LONDON, July 17—Two former Hitler favorites, Konrad Henlein, who organized the Nazi movement in the Sudetenland of what was once Czechoslovakia, and Dr. Walther Darre, who recently resigned as minister of agriculture for "reasons of poor health," are in enforced residence at Graefenberg, Bavaria, and are under police supervision, according to a Zurich dispatch today to Reuters news agency.

The dispatch gave no reason for Henlein's fall from favor. Darre was among several high Nazi officials who became suddenly ill shortly after Hitler demanded a free hand to deal as he wished with any person in the Reich.

MILITARY COURT DECREES NOOSE FOR ARMY MAN

MELBOURNE, July 17—Edward Leonaki, New York private with the AEF in Australia, was found guilty today of strangling three Australian women and was sentenced to death by hanging by a military court.

The former New York grocery clerk, who apparently had an irresistible impulse to choke women "with soft voices," made confessions to several witnesses who testified before the court. Defense counsel unsuccessfully contested introduction of testimony covering the confessions.

Alienists declared that Leonaki was sane at the time of the crimes, but acquaintances testified that he was a heavy drinker and at such times was driven to acts to build up his ego.

VORONEZH HOLDS

Stalin Reported On Way To South

MOSCOW, July 17—American-built fighting and bombing planes went blasting into action on the Voronezh front today as Soviet armies pounded relentlessly at retreating German forces on the upper Don river.

Crack Soviet airmen at the controls of American Aircobra planes lunged at Luftwaffe fighters and at Nazi troop concentrations where the enemy is digging in well outside the city limits of Voronezh.

In addition, Douglas medium bombers, known as Bostons, are carrying out constant bombing operations throughout the Don valley. American Boeings also are being used by the Soviet air fleet.

The Soviet high command officially announced repulse of a futile Nazi effort to capture the vital rail junction of Voronezh.

Fighting in the Voronezh sector, it was said, continued with undiminished violence.

The battlefield was littered with piles of Nazi dead and wrecked tanks.

"Soviet tanks pursuing the enemy," the high command said in a communique, "entered an inhabited locality on this front."

Germans Build Forts
German units on the northern sector of Voronezh were compelled to erect fortifications to protect themselves against Soviet counter-action.

Possibility of an immediate new threat to the city was seen in reports that the Germans may be attempting another pincer movement against Voronezh. One report said that the Nazis yesterday had effected a new crossing of the Don river and established a bridgehead southwest of the city.

With the Russians holding the initiative for the last two days on the Voronezh sector, the heavy loss to the Germans in manpower was given in a front line dispatch by the correspondent for Red Star, the army newspaper.

"We slowly but steadily are advancing in the face of a heavy artillery barrage and over areas laden with land mines," the correspondent wrote.

"Yesterday, we inflicted merciless defeat on the 168th German division.

"Over 1,000 Germans were killed in a single day."

U. S. TANKS USED

British Retain Vital Ridge; RAF Active

CAIRO, July 17—British middle east high command today announced that heavy fighting was in progress on the central sector of the desert front south of El Alamein and that several axis armored units had been knocked out of action.

The large-scale battle of tanks resulted when Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel persisted in efforts to dislodge the British from positions they had gained on the El Ruweisat ridge, south of El Alamein, coastal anchor of the British defense line 70 miles west of Alexandria.

American-made General Lee tanks were reported in action in this new clash of tanks around the desert outpost of El Alamein.

The El Ruweisat ridge is approximately ten miles from the coast and is six or seven miles long and from two to three miles wide. It is fairly high and gives command in every direction.

Fighting also continued in the northern sector around Tel El Eisa (the Hill of Jesus) where Germans and Italians have sought to oust Australian forces from advanced positions.

HUNGARIAN ALIEN HELD FOR DRAFT ACT INQUIRY

George Bdash, 42, a Hungarian alien, is in county jail Friday following his arrest on suspicion of county authorities. The man was located in the Adelphi area and cited for investigation.

Bdash states that he is a native of Hungary and has no permanent address. FBI officials have notified the sheriff to hold the man until word is received from them. A check is being made on his compliance with Selective Service laws.

Raymond Dixon, soldier from Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, was arrested Friday by the sheriff's department and held for investigation of "desertion." The youth states that he has been away from camp 30 days. No information has been received yet from Army officials but when a man is absent from camp 20 days he is considered a deserter.

Further check on the status of the soldier was being made Friday afternoon.

Army, FBI Hunting Men Reported Dropped From Plane Near F. D. Estate

RHINEBECK, N. Y., July 17—This sleepy little town on the Hudson river was a beehive of activity today as Army officials and state and local police continued to investigate reports that six "parachutists" were seen floating from the sky yesterday.

The report was the second received by authorities this week, an earlier account telling of a single parachute spotted in the air over the Adirondack mountain town of Athol, near Glens Falls, was made last Tuesday.

Neither of the reports has been confirmed officially but the Army eastern defense command launched an immediate military investigation. FBI authorities also were notified but no immediate comment was available from this source.

New York state police broadcast an eight-state alarm following receipt of the reports. All automobiles over a wide area were stopped and occupants closely questioned. Hitch-hikers and pedestrians, likewise, were made to give an account of themselves.

Near F. D.'s Home
Seriousness of the second report, if true, was in the fact that the "chutists" were reported descending not far from the Hyde Park estate of President Roosevelt.

Acknowledging receipt of the news, the Army merely stated that an official military investigation was under way, adding nothing to details already in the hands of state police.

Significant in the announcement, however, was the fact that Army officials referred to the reported "parachutists" as "parachutes." When later questioned on this point, an Army spokesman merely repeated the official statement, stressing the word "parachutes."

The official Army announcement of the report was made over (Continued on Page Three)

PLEAS FOR NEW TIRES FILLING RATION OFFICE

Pinch On Drivers Noted By Officials; 54 Apply For Board's Approval

OVER HALF TURNED DOWN

Three New Automobiles And Five New Bicycles May Be Purchased

Proof that district motorists are feeling the pinch of the tire rationing program was noted Thursday evening when the county rationing board met to consider applications for new tires. Applications during the last week numbered 54 with many applicants requesting two and four tires each.

This is the largest number of applications the board has received yet, and authorities state that with present hot weather the critical tire problem that many drivers face will gradually get worse.

Wear on tires during the summer months is some 30 percent greater than during the Fall and Winter. Of those who applied for the allotments more than half were refused. Only essential autos will be supplied with tires and the board has stated that the quota does not justify giving them to non-essential drivers.

At the meeting Thursday evening, three new tires for passenger cars were approved, 14 new passenger car tubes were granted, 10 new truck tires, 31 passenger car recapped tires, six truck recapped tires and six obsolete tires.

Three new automobiles were granted at the session. With laws regulating bicycle rationing going into effect this last week, the board received 10 applications for new bicycles. Consideration of these forms released five new cycles to local residents.

This was the first time the board considered granting tires to defense workers, also. A government regulation, recently passed, approved granting second grade tires to all-out defense workers and the group released three of these Thursday.

Under the new rationing program in the county all applications for consideration by the board are filed with the rationing office in the city building.

68 ACTIONS FOR DIVORCE FILED IN YEAR'S TIME

Annual report of Clerk of Courts A. L. Wilder made Friday discloses that 153 civil actions and 57 criminal cases were filed during the year ending July 1, 1942. A complete report on activities of the court docket is made each year to the state.

Divorce actions numbered 68 with the following sub-division showing the various charges filed. Six cases were brought for willful absence; one for statutory violation; 14 under the heading of extreme cruelty; 47 listed under gross neglect of duty.

A total of 153 civil actions was filed during the year with 145 being disposed of, four taken to higher courts and 174 still pending on the docket.

The criminal docket handled 57 new cases with disposition of 57, none taken to higher courts and 39 still pending.

There are a number of cases pending from last year making the total pending now higher than it would seem by checking the cases filed and those disposed of. Eleven foreclosure suits and equity cases involving $26,614.20 were placed on the records and all other money suits totaled only $4,634.

The work during the last year in Common Pleas court has fallen off considerably but divorces maintain the lead in number of cases filed.

MERCHANTS SELL BONDS, STAMPS ON HEROES' DAY

Friday saw retail merchants of the city making an effort to sell several thousand dollars worth of Defense Stamps and Bonds as commemoration of American Heroes' Day. This day has been set aside to honor all American men who are fighting on the far-flung battle fronts of the world.

Exact figures on results of the drive will not be known until later.

Allies May Be Forced to Open New Front to Retain Most of Russia

BY DREW PEARSON
(Major Robert S. Allen on active duty)

WASHINGTON, July 17 — Recent losses on the Russian front are more serious even than they appear on the surface.

To understand the situation fully it is necessary to know some of the developments which took place in Russia during recent months. These give the key to the Russians' rapid retreats and the possible effect on the U. S. A.

First in the battle of Kharkov, where Marshal Timoshenko took the offensive last spring to head off a Nazi offensive, it now develops that Russian losses were serious—especially in tanks and airplanes. The gamble was worth taking, because if it had succeeded a wedge would have been driven between the German armies.

However, it failed, and the Russians have been feeling the loss of tanks and material ever since. Second, it now develops that there were heavier losses of materials than generally realized during the fighting last Winter, when the Russians were trying to re-establish their lines.

Third, it is now no secret that losses of U. S. supplies sent around Norway to Russia have been very serious indeed. An American seaman on one of these ships recently revealed that his ship was attacked every day of the voyage except on Hitler's birthday. Added to this, the port of Murmansk has now been bombed to a shambles.

So, the key to Russian retreats is lack of tanks, planes, artillery. Also, with the long hours of daylight, obviously it will be increasingly difficult, if not impossible to get large convoys through to Russia.

Naturally this leads to only one conclusion; if heavy shipments cannot be sent direct to Russia, the next best strategy is to use those supplies in the hands of U. S.-British troops over a shorter, safer sea route—namely, for a second front. And since the Russians long have wanted a second front, it is not surprising that they want it more than ever today. Such a front may be the only way to prevent Hitler from taking the Caucasus and most of Russia.

This is the biggest, most immediate and crucial problem the President and his military chiefs now have to face.

COMPLICATED RUBBER
W. P. Boss Donald Nelson got a sharp going over from the Senate Appropriations Committee when he testified regarding his annual budget requirements, especially on synthetic rubber and failure to make use of the quickest rubber processes. Nelson tried to explain that synthetic rubber was a complicated business.

"You're supposed to be complicated enough to deal with complicated problems," snapped Senator McMillan of Tennessee.

Note—Nelson expressed doubt about the wisdom of developing sponge iron, was told that it was necessary to take chances in war time in order to win battles.

CONGRESSIONAL "PATRIOTS"
One reason millions of young Americans are serving in the armed forces is to protect our democratic right to vote. Yet, it is an ironical fact that a great many men in the Army and Navy will themselves be denied the right to vote this year because of the obstructive antics of a group of politics-as-usual boys on Capitol Hill.

A bloc of poll-tax-state congressmen, led by noisy Gene Cox of Georgia, so far has been able to prevent action on a bill, sponsored by Representative Robert L. Ramsay of West Virginia, which would make it possible for service men to vote. This bloc puts the poll-tax, by which a part of the south in effect is disfranchised ahead of votes for service men.

Ramsay's bill would waive registration requirements for soldiers, sailors and marines and hold special "absentee" elections in camps and naval bases 21 days before the regular election. Every man in the military service, stationed in the U. S. A., would have a chance to cast his ballot.

Registration is the chief stumbling block to soldier-voting, because of the red tape involved in getting blanks through the mail and swearing to an affidavit of citizenship. Also, a number of states do not permit registration by mail, thus making voting impossible for many service men who have become 21 since induction.

In the last war, some states got around this by sending officials to camps to register absentee voters; but this is a costly and cumbersome procedure.

Ramsay's bill was unanimously approved by the House Elections committee and has overwhelming support in both the House and Senate. But this powerful backing can't express itself unless the bill can be brought up for action. Right there is where Cox of Georgia and his gang got in their underdog obstructive tactics.

When the measure came up before the Rules committee for a rule to place it before the House, Cox and his close pal Representative Howard Smith of Virginia, another Old Guard poll-taxer, threw a monkey wrench. They are ranking members of this key committee and have the power to keep the Ramsey bill bottled up. Smith has attempted to justify his opposition on the high plane of "States' rights." But Cox makes no bones about why he is against the bill.

"This is another attack on the poll-tax," he stormed. "I strongly disapprove of it." Actually, Ramsay's bill does not nullify the poll-tax where states require the payment of such a tax.

Officials checked their records and replied, "The nearest seems to be in your own home, madam. Your husband is an air raid warden." . . . Northrop Aircraft company has evolved a new welding process that is claimed will revolutionize plane making. The new method will permit the construction of all-magnesium planes. RALPH WHITESIDE GAINS BERTH IN U. S. AIR CORPS

70 PERCENT OF WHEAT HARVEST COMPLETE HERE

With weather conditions in the county being more favorable for wheat harvesting in the last several days, farm officials state that about 70 percent of the grain has already been cut and an equal amount has probably been threshed.

Combining is greatly reducing the yield off many fields that had to wait proper cutting, due to wet weather. The grain has become too mature and much of it is being lost through shattering. This grain is also reported to be greatly reduced in quality due to bleaching.

Wheat that was cut several weeks ago and left in shocks for threshing outfits was extensively damaged by sprouting. This wheat is being claimed with crews working throughout the county, but its quality and yield have also been greatly reduced.

Women and youthful workers are aiding greatly in the harvest this year. An effort is being made to complete all the work by the middle of next week.

This has been one of the most depressing years for wheat farmers in many years, according to spokesmen. Earlier in the Summer a bumper yield was anticipated. Had the weather been normal there is no doubt that the local crops would have netted more than a million dollars. However, heavy rains during June and July have hindered proper harvest work.

Hay making and other projects on all farms in the county were resumed Thursday and Friday after the rainy period let up.

MORE PRECAUTIONS URGED TO PREVENT TIRE THEFTS

With many drivers in the state beginning to feel the tire shortage, local police agencies report an increase of tire thefts throughout the state and urge local auto owners to do all they can in cooperating against the menace.

All drivers should file the serial numbers of their tires with county or city police for safekeeping. In case tires are stolen the departments can readily check for them through this record.

Cars should be placed in garages whenever possible, according to the officials.

Keeler Tells Rotarians Of Ohio Water Problem

Fred Keeler of Chillicothe, a state soil conservation expert, was featured as the speaker at the weekly Rotary club meeting Thursday. Mr. Keeler discussed in detail the water problem which is becoming increasingly worse in Ohio. Stating first that water was the basis of all living animals and plants, he went on to point out that the supply is not evenly distributed throughout the state.

He showed that many cities are hindered by a lack of proper water supplies by referring to a recent survey that showed 50 percent of the cities to have a serious water shortage in water reservoirs beneath the ground. During past years, the survey disclosed, the water level in most of these reserve bodies has dropped an average of 12.5 feet.

"Water is becoming more important with expansion of industry during the last few years and there is a definite need for conserving our supplies," the guest stated.

Some 700,000,000 gallons of water are used by the people alone in Ohio and this is greatly multiplied by the enormous quantities used in industry. "We must hold our supply of water by studying the problem and creating proper projects to remedy it," he said. Using state geological maps to demonstrate the speaker traced the glacial valleys and reservoirs in this area in order to give the Rotarians a clearer picture of the problem.

Suggestions made by the official were that industry must reclaim much of its unused water and farmers must be educated to adopt conservation practices. Thirty percent of all rainfall goes into the underground storage, 30 percent is retained in the soil and 40 percent runs off into streams and rivers.

Closing with the statement that rural and urban communities have a mutual problem to solve, the talk was well received by all members of the group.

A large delegation of Rotarians from Lancaster and Chillicothe attended the meeting.

Ray Rowland, past-president of the organization, was also a guest.

All Pay Scales May Be Held At Present Levels For Duration Of Strife

One of the President's advisers said he expected the chief executive also to ask Congress to authorize the price administration to grant government subsidies to certain industries that have been caught between price ceilings and increased production costs.

Mr. Roosevelt's plans are expected to be worked out in detail when he confers on Monday with the Democratic "big four"—Vice-President Wallace, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader Barkley and House Democratic Leader McCormack.

scribed the battles as savage as Von Bock sought to drive forward toward Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, and Stalingrad, major industrial city on the Volga.

(Stockholm reported receipt of dispatches from Ankara — transmitted through German news sources — asserting that Soviet Premier Josef Stalin has left Moscow for Stalingrad to direct defense of the city personally.)

Official sources in Moscow said that Russian armies southeast of Millerovo, on the Moscow-Rostov railway 190 miles west of Stalingrad, were fighting their way back to new positions.

Stand Certain

The Soviet forces dropping back in the face of the heavy German push were understood, however, to be strong and supported by tanks. Dispatches from the battle area indicated that once the Russians had established themselves in chosen positions they would make a determined stand against the Nazis.

65 MORE HOMES RAIDED IN EAST FOR NAZI AIDES

NEW YORK, July 17—Continuing their widespread activity against the German-American Bund, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents early today raided 65 homes in 29 New Jersey localities and seized an undischarged number of persons and a large quantity of contraband.

E. E. Conroy, head of the New York and Newark FBI offices, warned that every German alien in New Jersey who belonged to the Bund or regularly visited its Camp Nordland in Andover faces investigation.

The latest raids followed seizure of six German alien waiters in a Yorkville restaurant where they were employed.

Five of the group were members of the same organization with which 158 others, seized last Saturday, were connected. The sixth belonged to another German society with known Nazi leanings.

Meanwhile three more of the 29 Bund leaders indicted for conspiring to hamper draft and alien registration laws, were arraigned in federal court and pleaded innocent. With others who pleaded previously, they are being held in bail of $10,000 each, pending trial on July 28.

The three are Josef Belohlavek, 40, a naturalized citizen, who operated a dental laboratory in Cleveland; Walter Schneller Jr., born in Germany of American parents, and Joseph Bachmaier, who was born in Altoona, Pa. Both Schneller and Bachmaier were Bund leaders in Erie, Pa.

DETROIT, July 17—Work was resumed in the Ford war production plant at Willow Run today with the settlement of an hour-long sit-down strike that was called when a telephone was taken out of the union committee room in the factory.

The strike, which was not authorized by the United Automobile Workers union, started at 6 p. m. Thursday, and the men went back to work an hour later.

Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director said the company took out the telephone with the permission of UAW officials in Washington.

The strike, according to Bennett, was called by a union committee man.

Officials of the union said they would make an announcement later.

The body will remain at the J. V. Halteman funeral home, Lancaster, until Sunday morning when it will be removed to Marion for funeral and burial which will be Monday at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Roderick had many acquaintances in Circleville.

structural engineers also instructed them how to dynamite bridges by placing their explosives under girders carrying the greatest stress rather than under reinforced concrete abutments.

The instructions, it was learned, were so thorough that the German high command suggested that the potted palms in hotel lobbies and department stores would be a good place to hide explosives.

The high command also gave the saboteurs detailed orders on their movements in the United States. Four of the saboteurs landed on Long Island on June 13, and the other four on the Florida shore on June 17.

The battle on the central sector developed after the British late Wednesday penetrated into axis positions for a depth of seven miles.

The fighting, which is likely to affect the whole desert position and may determine the fate of Egypt, continued throughout Thursday and last night.

(The Exchange Telegraph company received a dispatch from Zurich reporting that neutral correspondents in Rome had been informed that "axis troops had penetrated the British lines at El Alamein and are continuing their offensive against Alexandria.")

The thrust in the central sector of the 35-mile line by Gen. Claude Auchinleck, British commander in the middle east, was timed to upset a plan by Rommel to bring the full pressure of his tank columns against British advanced positions in the north.

The report of the rumored Rhinebeck "landings" was made by Clyde Swenson, superintendent of the old John Jacob Astor estate not far from Rhinebeck. He and his wife recounted that they saw an unidentified plane disgorge the "chutes" at about 4:45 p. m. The "chutes" descended several miles from where he was standing, Swenson said.

Some Saw Men

Going into action immediately, state police questioned other residents of the vicinity who likewise told of seeing the parachutes. Some were specific in saying that the "chutes" were supporting men and nearly all varied as to the number. All were agreed that the "chutes" were large.

At first, only roads in the immediate vicinity of Rhinebeck were blocked by police, but this was later extended to a much wider area until, during early morning, according to reports, cars were stopped as far south as Westchester county.

YANK BOMBERS RAP JAP PORT ALONG YANGSTE

CHUNGKING, July 17—American bombing planes, accompanied by a fighter escort, heavily bombed the waterfront of the Japanese-held city of Hankow on the Yangtze river yesterday, United States Army headquarters in China disclosed today.

The raid was carried out with "very satisfactory results," the communique said.

On July 3, it was revealed, allied bombers, led by Major William E. Basye, and a fighter escort under command of Squadron Leader John R. Howard (a volunteer group flier) attacked the Nanchang airdrome.

"The Japanese were completely surprised," the communique said. "The runways and two hangars were seriously damaged. Three planes trying to take off, as well as several parked planes, were destroyed."

"One enemy plane trying to intercept the formation was shot down. One of our fighters was lost but the pilot saved. There was no damage to our bombers."

"It was learned that in the attack July 2 on docks on the Japanese concession at Hankow 1,200 kilogram bombs landed on docks and warehouses and that there were several near misses on ships."

SLAYER OF STEPFATHER ORDERED TO INSTITUTION

COLUMBUS, July 17—A lifetime in one of the state's mental institutions today stretched before 16-year-old Steadman Thompson, who fatally shot his stepfather, Dr. Charles Owens, chemistry instructor at Ohio State university, in the latter's laboratory on the campus.

The poly-poly, 200-pound youth smiled when he heard Probate Judge C. P. McClelland pronounce him "mentally ill and unfit to be at large," and that he be confined to a state hospital for his own benefit and that of society. Two psychiatrists testified that he was a victim of split personality and that a cure was improbable.

Following an argument at home, Thompson, who had accused Dr. Owens of alienating his mother's affections, followed the instructor to his laboratory and shot him with a pistol. He carried a knife assertedly "to use if the gun misfired."

TO VACATIONERS

FRIENDS: Highway travel this Summer, even though one doubts it now by seeing so many cars on the roads, will be somewhat restricted with tires getting thin and gasoline rationed in some parts of the country. Many Circleville and Pickaway county folk who have been taking trips of from 500 miles to 1,000 miles during the hot weather will remain at home this year. And rightly so. I believe that there are hundreds of Circleville and Pickaway county folk who have never enjoyed seeing the scores of wonders which are available within only a few miles of their homes. Some very likely have never been at Logan Elm, although nearly all have been from time to time. Others have never seen Mound Cross near Tarlton and Mound City near Chillicothe. The Hocking county scenic park area attracts many thousands of persons every year and it is near enough to our community to be visited in less than an hour's travel. There are other areas in Ohio, the Columbus zoo for instance, which are outstanding and which are very near to us. We should do more vacationing in our home community.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SWIMMERS

YOUTHS: During the present season, when hot weather causes much discomfort and stuffiness, you are tempted to slip away and go to your favorite swimming pool. High waters have washed many holes into former 'good spots' and great caution should be followed in going into streams. No fatal accidents from swimming in this county have been reported yet this Summer, but indications from other areas show that there is always the possibility. If you must go swimming in an unguarded pool take your father or some other responsible person who knows the water along with you for your own protection.

CIRCUITEER.

TO HOUSEWIVES

WOMEN: Rationing officials have altered their regulations to permit housewives who need greater supplies of sugar to obtain the commodity during the canning season. However, the ration office does not want people rushing in for greater supplies when they have not yet used for canning, and for canning alone, the extra amounts they received earlier under canning regulations. It seems that the government's supply of sugar is greater than anticipated, and that storage space is needed. Thus the revision of canning sugar regulations. However, the supply is not so great that Uncle Sam put out unlimited amounts to everyone. The need for sugar must be proved, and the claim that sugar previously bought for such purposes has been used for canning must likewise be proved to the board's satisfaction. Persons wishing more sugar should apply for it only when they have or will have in a short time more food to be canned. I have heard that in some parts of the county blackberries are going to waste. This should not be permitted to happen because many persons, I am sure, would be willing to pick them if they knew where they were available. It's going to be a long, hard Winter, so a large supply of canned foods can come in handy.

CIRCUITEER.

TO WEATHER MAN

PAL: You've been a peach of a guy the last couple of weeks. Here we are in the midst of one of the biggest and most important wheat harvest seasons in many years, and all you do is pour soaking rains and strong winds on our valuable wheat fields. You have even sent down enough water to wash out bridges, and to do scores of other things that aren't nice. The last couple of days you have mended your ways, at least sufficiently to permit wheat farmers to resume their harvests. If you can be a real swell fellow for the next 10 days the wheat will all be threshed, and the county's corn crop will be assured of sufficient sunshine to be a bumper one. Right now the corn looks good, but a week or more of sunshine and heat will make it an exceptional crop. How about being a good fellow for a while? It would be appreciated by all of us.

CIRCUITEER.

TO STATION OPERATORS

MEN: Recent announcement that the scrap rubber drive in Pickaway county netted some 125,000 pounds indicates the success of your worthy effort. The project was one that merited the entire support of all residents, and the time you spent in collecting the rubber, your expense in buying and storing it and the publicity you gave the need for the collections can all be recognized as the reasons for the huge rubber pile now being consolidated in the county. Many residents still have scrap rubber that was neglected during the drive. These persons should turn it in to any junk dealer since you have already done your part and are trying to remove your present supplies.

CIRCUITEER.

TO WAR CHEST BOARD

SIRS: Many weeks ago a War Chest Board was set up in Circleville, and action was expected of it. Several organizations, one of which is Boy Scouts, delayed their financial campaigns until something definite was done about the Chest campaign. To date, little, if anything, has been done about getting the War Chest program organized. It is important to all of us, and to all Circleville and Pickaway county organizations. I know that many persons are busy with harvest season here and other things demand time, but I earnestly hope that something will be done, and soon, about the War Chest question. The movement should not be permitted to die.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

WASHINGTON. — Being kinda tired, I showed signs of it a few mornings ago, and my young daughter remarked, "Daddy, you oughta see a doctor."

"I'll take a heck of a doctor," said I. "To cure me of the age I've arrived at."

"Phooey!" replied my daughter. "Anybody up to 100 is eligible for war purposes."

I'll agree that that's the proper spirit. Nevertheless it's severe on our oldsters.

What I'm asking, though, is—What'll happen to us later?

In the next two years, according to government figures, 20,000,000 Americans will have to be inducted into war activities, assuming that the conflict continues.

I'll include all the septuagenarians: the women and the children, as the latter arrive at sufficient years to meet requirements.

The children are immaterial. They'll be absorbed gradually. The women will get back to housekeeping. A percentage of the male adults will get back into their old occupations. But we aged fellows? Into the discard.

Some millions of us will go into the discard.

I can see the signs already. We'd be superfluous now if it weren't for our present superfluity. It's up to us to begin to die in due season, but we shan't all do it.

There's a lot of talk to the effect that social security and that kind of stuff will take care of us. Hm!—a few cents a week, maybe. It'll do well to keep us in cigarette money.

But it won't be a small problem. It'll run into millions.

The theory is that the situation will adjust itself automatically. Perhaps it will, as to the adult population and the upcoming generation. The poor old ancients will be in heck's own hole, though. They'll be of no further use for the extinguished emergency and there'll be no subsequent emergency to support 'em.

My own notion is that, on their own account, they'd better pull off some sort of an uprising.

I'm not so sure that a dying generation can't put up a fight for its own temporary survival. It remains moderately husky. Why not fight for its life?—such as is left of it?

We have nations and races fighting between themselves. Why not generations?

The orthodox military dope is that, on an overwhelming average, a youngster is a better scrapper than his seniors, which may have been true in the past—but is it true now, with a graybeard's finger on the trigger as effective as anybody's? I can shoot as fast, at my years, as a 20-year-old can?

It may not be so up to 75, but a bit short of that?

Our present-day oldsters, though? They're barred strictly, even as curiosities. Their wives ditto, as nurses and other accessories. They'll be among the millions wished into the 'post-war discard. It'll get 'em guessing.

Casual Subject Now

What this post-war situation's likely to be is something to figure on.

It's referred to in millions. Just now nobody refers to it except casually.

Then it'll involve some calculation.

We old fellows will lose our jobs. Our wives'll lose theirs. We're hoping to die before it happens.

I haven't got any confidence in this talk to the effect that we've got a better world period coming. If we don't have a darned sight worse era coming, I'm no guesser.

A country doesn't unload 12 or 15 million oldsters and their wives at one shot without economically disorganizing 'em seriously.

The government's story is that it's going to be fixed to reabsorb 'em immediately.

It'll have to go some. It may not be in office then. What administration?

How Brain Surgery Can Affect Mind and Soul

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SURGERY HAS penetrated everywhere and is even sticking scalpels and forceps into the soul. This is another way of talking about prefrontal lobe brain surgery. It is probably the prefrontal

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

lobe of the brain that controls the operation of the things we call soul.

We have a good many kinds of brains, which we attained at different stages in the evolutionary process on our part, and which are all still functioning. The oldest brain of all is the automatic nervous system, consisting of a series of ganglia mostly down the outside of the vertebral column. This works without any thought process on our part, and controls such functions as the distribution of the flow of blood, secretions of the salivary and other glands and many other purely automatic things.

Several Brains

In the skull we have several brains, one of which is the cerebrum, which also operates without very much thought from us, to maintain equilibrium and coordinate our movements.

Another mass of old nerve tissue that is prominent in certain lower animals is the thalamus. Here a great many instinctive emotions center such as appetite, love, fear, desire and hate. The lower animals, which have very large thalamus, have no real way of controlling these fundamental emotions. In man, the highest brain of all, the prefrontal lobe, is connected with the thalamus and can, to a considerable extent, exert an influence on it. The higher the individual in the intellectual scale, the more likely it is that he has a well-developed prefrontal lobe.

Results of Surgery

Surgical methods within the past few years have invaded even the part of the brain—the seat of the soul. Mental cases who are afflicted with melancholia, with bursts of temper, those who are unable to face the world as it is, can be improved by having the prefrontal lobe severed from the rest of the brain.

This leaves the individual a good deal of an animal, but it brings about an astonishing improvement in certain conditions such as melancholia. Melancholics become cheerful and stop their chronic worrying. Other individuals who have very anti-social tendencies in many instances become free from these manifestations and amenable to discipline.

Of course, all results are not as good as might be assumed from seeing these statements put down on paper, but in a series of cases studied by Doctors Freeman and Watts of Washington, D. C., about 50 per cent of the results of removal of the prefrontal lobes were good; about 30 per cent were fair, and the rest range from some slight improvement to complete failure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. C.:—What are the symptoms and treatment of diverticulitis?

Answer: A diverticulum is simply a sort of sac or pouch in a mucous membrane. When it becomes inflamed, it is called diverticulitis. This may be in the throat, gullet or stomach. Usually diverticulitis refers to the diverticula that are in the sigmoid part of the colon. When the inflammation of one of these is acute, it is something like a left-sided appendicitis. It will also cause chronic pain, indigestion and alternately, constipation and diarrhea. Treatment is effective by medicinal agents if the condition is mild and by surgical interference when the condition is severe.

Romance Thumbs a Ride

by ALLEN EPPES

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

DIAN GAVE Bill a quick look. "You don't sound very happy," she said.

"No? Well, don't forget I'm a jilted man."

"Oh, that's so. I had almost forgotten."

"Your own jilting doesn't seem to be giving you much trouble. Or I don't notice it, if it is."

"I get over things quickly. Besides, now that I've had time to think, I'm not sure that I ever really loved Fred, or wanted to marry him."

"I see. Well, good luck, anyway." Bill looked out across a field. "Cotton once grew out there, I suppose."

"No—tobacco."

"Would it grow again?"

"It might, with the proper encouragement and fertilizer."

"Cotton, tobacco, vegetables, a swimming pool. A man could live out here without having to bother about the rest of the world."

"Yes. Only I don't think you're that sort of man."

"I might be, at that. I might revert to the soil, or something."

Dian looked at her watch. "I think we should be getting back to town, don't you?" she said.

"Any particular rush?"

"I'm just curious—that's all."

"What about?"

"Aunt Martha—and Jerome."

"What do you mean?"

"I put a bug in Jerome's ear this morning, when I went into the bank."

"I thought you were in there a mighty long time. How did the bug affect him?"

"It made him think, anyway." Dian smiled. "I made my real beginning in my campaign to sell Jerome the idea that Aunt Martha's the woman for him."

"Does she know?"

"No. That's why I want to get home to see what she has to say. Jerome may have backed out in the end."

"Don't tell me he proposed to you while you were with him?"

"No. Only he dropped a hint here and there. I switched him off, however."

"But suppose Jerome insists it's you he wants—and not your aunt. What then?"

"I may weaken and say 'yes.' After all, he has a lovely house, and a girl in a town the size of Ardendale can't afford to be too choosy."

"I see."

Silence, and then, "I suppose you're all dated up for the rest of the day, and the evening."

"No, not yet."

"You're not going to leave Claire flat—are you?"

"That depends. I don't know just yet how she has arranged matters—with Paul and me, I mean. I'm not sure whether she's dating us up alphabetically—or just how she's doing it. Time will tell."

"Claire'll manage some way," said Dian. "She always does."

"You don't care much for Claire, do you?"

"Goodness! What a thing to ask. I told you we grew up together, didn't I?"

"Yes, but that hasn't anything to do with your liking or disliking her."

"No, I suppose not."

They got back into the car.

"Funny thing," said Bill, "but I'm curious to know just what your final answer to Jerome will be."

"Are you?"

"Yes. Pretty fresh of me, I guess."

"No, not fresh," said Dian. "But I do think Jerome should have my answer before you do."

"Yes, of course. But what about your aunt?"

"How do you mean?"

"I mean, if you really think she's the woman for Jerome, surely you wouldn't want to marry him yourself."

"Let's not talk about it any more."

"Very well. Only if I were in your place I'd think pretty hard before I said 'yes.'"

"Yes, sir," Dian laughed. "You certainly do seem to be taking a lot of interest in Jerome and me."

"I don't want to see you make a mistake."

"That's very kind of you. But don't you think if you come out with him; thank him for the good time you've had."

Today's Horoscope

Today's birthday children should follow their own insight and judgment if they hope to attain success. They should not listen to others. They are studious, energetic and affectionate. They also have pleasing manners and will have congenial homes. The next year will be most auspicious for them. Substantial gain will come through literary activities, solicitors, interviews, agencies and travel. It is portended. They should make the fullest use of these beneficent influences. Exceedingly clever and very fortunate will the child be who is born on this date. Success as orator, writer or lecturer is foreseen, and a happy marriage.

Cool and Darker

Sheer black jacket and skirt costume is detailed with frilled black lace revers; elbow sleeves.

SHEER black is a lifesaver when the thermometer rises and the business of looking smart as well as adequately covered is almost more than one can cope with amiably.

A well fitted, slightly soft black costume is good for the business girl, for luncheon and daylight saving dinner dates, for brief travels and church-going.

One can palm off many wardrobe accessory sets with it, black being basically kind to practically all the fashionable and usual accessory colors.

Cubs, Brooks Split Pair; Yanks Gain More Ground

By International News Service

Chicago Cubs awaited their final brush with the Brooklyn Dodgers today following yesterday's stand-off in which the Cubs won the opener, 7 to 0, then dropped the night cap, 2 to 1.

Slender Johnny Schmitz was the hero of the first game. The snakehipped southpaw pitched superlative ball until the eighth when he tired and Lon Warneke handled the Brooks the rest of the way.

Lou Novikoff paced the Cubs' 14th hit attack on the National League leaders with three safeties in four times at bat.

Arky Vaughan started the Dodgers on their way to the second game victory with a pinch hit single in the seventh. Vaughan was sacrificed to second, then scored on Peter Reiser's double.

Reiser came home on Ducky Medwick's single. Lou Stringer's home run in the fifth scored the Cubs' lone tally.

The three other games in the league were played at night.

Allowing only four hits, Carl Hubbell piloted the Giants to victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates with a score of 3 to 1. After allowing two singles, the veteran Giant hurler retired 16 Pirate batsmen until Barrett tripled in the ninth. A single by Fletcher narrowly averted a shut-out for Hubbell.

Army To Lease County Land For Extension Of Lockbourne Air Base

TWO RUNWAYS TO BE PLACED NEAR ASHVILLE

Each Will Be 700 Feet Wide And 5,000 Feet Long, Spokesman Said

NO PURCHASE PLANNED

Baldinger's Declaration Of Need For More Room For Training Recalled

Extension of the Lockbourne Army air base into Pickaway county soon was confirmed Friday by U. S. Army men who appeared in Ashville.

A spokesman, who did not wish to be identified but who left his Columbus telephone number and address in case more information should be needed, said that enough land would be leased from Ashville community farmers for two big runways, each of which will be 700 feet wide and 5,000 feet long. The runways will cross obliquely running to northeast and northwest.

Many Circleville folk Friday obtained their first view of a plane-drawn glider, one of the training craft from the Lockbourne air base spending much time during the morning over the county seat.

No land will be purchased, the spokesman said.

Farms to be included in the project are S. W. Cummins, James Hott, William Wood, Elmer Payne, the Storts farm, Lloyd Baum and Jenny Valentine.

Colonel O. M. Baldinger, commander of the Lockbourne base, said in an address here last week that the base as it stands now covers only about two-thirds of the area needed for a complete glider training base. It was originally laid out for a bombardier base, he said, this sort of camp not requiring so much acreage as a glider base.

Training is being speeded up at Lockbourne with construction of plane and glider hangars being completed. Many men enrolled in the Army for glider training are being sent to the base.

Army men hint that before very long the skies over northern Pickaway county and southern Franklin county will be filled with gliders.

ASHVILLE

Franklin McAllister, now a resident of north Ashville district, has rented quarters of L. E. Foreman and formerly occupied by the late Ed Hornbeck. After making repairs and applying liberal quantities of paint, Mr. McAllister will be occupying his new quarters sometime next week.

The well known Woodford Ward, an employee of a Columbus meat packing company, is reported quite sick, being removed from his home to Grant hospital yesterday morning by the Schlegel ambulance.

Many loads of newly threshed wheat came to from the community farms to the local grain elevators with content of moisture much improved. Appearance this morning at six are for another good wheat day. And of course you signifiers have noticed by now that the new moon stands on end with the water all out—sure sign of a dry spell, at least that's what the weather prognosticators told us yesterday evening.

The fresh air show and the park dance were both well patronized. A good sized sprinkling of soldiers were a part of the crowd.

This morning Claude Ward, wife and daughter and P. H. Leffler are out for a three day outing to Niagara Falls and way points.

Quoting a many a year employee at the local cannery, the pea pack is now being labeled and shipped out. Box making, too, is going along "full speed ahead" getting ready for the corn pack only a few weeks ahead.

A $100 War Bond will be awarded to the grange which makes the best record in the conservation and useful employment of remaining transportation facilities, with 13 other prizes for granges ranking next best in order.

The campaign begins this month and closes January 1. Each grange participating is requested to prepare a 500 word statement reporting car and tire conservation activities during the contest period, and this will be submitted by local grange lecturers to the Highway Education Board in Washington, D. C. for judging. Fichter also announced that the subject for the 14th annual National Grange essay contest for members under 18 years of age will be, "Grange Cooperation in Wartime Transportation." The individual winning this contest will receive an all expense trip to the National Grange session in Washington and a $50 War Bond. Second prize is a $50 War Bond, and third, a $25 Bond. September 1 is the closing date for this contest, which is locally in charge of the lecturer of each subordinate grange.
